

Daniel Sokol announced as a Finalist in the “Blogger of the Year” category for the Medical Journalists’ Association Awards

12KBW is delighted to note that Daniel Sokol has been announced as a Finalist in the “Blogger of the Year” category for the Medical Journalists’ Association Awards.

The judges commented:

“Daniel is willing to choose a difficult subject and argue with passion a position that not all readers are going to agree with. In a field where open debate is vital to progress, dissenters like Daniel are essential.”

Daniel's blogs and articles are freely available on his website: <http://medicalethicist.net/publications>