AREAS OF EXPERTISE

Inquests, Personal Injury, Clinical Negligence, Civil Procedure, Property, Property Damage, International & Travel

Achas enjoys a varied practice in 12KBW's core areas. She is keen to tackle research on complex points, including procedural ones and those involving a crossover between different spheres of law. She welcomes instructions in matters that cross the boundary between tort and public law. She is currently instructed in the Public Inquiry into Undercover Policing and the Lampard Inquiry into mental health provision in Essex. She previously had a longstanding involvement in the Infected Blood Inquiry and the Kenya Emergency Group Litigation.

She acted as a junior in Coventry v Lawrence (No. 3) [2015] UKSC 50, the landmark Supreme Court case concerning whether the costs regime under the Access to Justice Act 1999 complied with human rights law.

She was also instructed in X v Kuoni Travel [2019] C-578/19, both in the Supreme Court and before the Court of Justice of the European Union, alongside William Audland KC and Nina Ross.

Achas is a Lecturer in Law at Oxford Brookes University, where she teaches tort law and medical law. She is also a Board member for a non-profit bike workshop, the Broken Spoke Bicycle Co-operative.

International & Travel

Following her supervision by William Audland KC, she has a particular interest in cases with an international element (including accidents abroad). She acted as a junior in X v Kuoni Travel [2019] UKSC 37 in the Supreme Court and CJEU alongside William Audland KC and Nina Ross. She had an ongoing involvement in the Kenya Emergency Group Litigation (known colloquially as 'the Mau Mau litigation'). She assisted in the preparation of an urgent injunction to restrain conduct in Africa affecting English proceedings and successfully defended a complicated claim combining shipping law, travel law and disability discrimination law.
