AREAS OF EXPERTISE

Personal Injury, Industrial Disease, International & Travel, Abuse, Military Claims, Inquests, Group Litigation

James specialises in cases involving personal injuries, industrial diseases, and the conflict of laws. The Legal 500 lists him as a “rising star” of the personal injury bar.

He represents claimants and defendants in claims for serious injuries, fatal accidents, and sexual abuse. He is particularly experienced in industrial disease litigation and is a general editor of the leading textbook on claims for asbestos-related illness.

James has expertise in claims with a cross-border element. He regularly advises on and acts in cases raising jurisdictional issues under Brussels I (Recast) and the CPR 6BPD service gateways. His cases often involve the application of foreign law under Rome I and Rome II. He edits the International & Travel Law Blog.

James also acts for bereaved families and other interested parties at inquests arising out of suspected clinical negligence or industrial disease. He is committed to pro bono representation and accepts instructions on this basis where appropriate.

International & Travel

James has expertise in claims with a cross-border element. He regularly advises on and acts in cases raising jurisdictional issues under Brussels I (Recast) and the CPR 6BPD service gateways. His cases often involve the application of foreign law under Rome I and Rome II. He has been instructed in a number of group actions relating to injuries, deaths, and environmental damage abroad brought against parent companies in the courts of England and Wales.

James is experienced in claims relating to ruined package holidays and injuries suffered in the course of international travel. He acts for passengers, crew members, and carriers in contractual claims and claims under the Montreal Convention and Athens Convention. He is also instructed in claims arising out of aircraft crashes. He is a contributor to the “Accidents Abroad” chapter of Butterworths Personal Injury Litigation Service and he edits the International & Travel Law Blog.
